

TEAM RETREAT

A RETREAT TO BUILD TRUST AND RESPECT

SYNERGISING TALENTS TO BUILD AND SUSTAIN HIGH PERFORMANCE TEAMS

Why do we need this?

In today's competitive global business environment, organisations need to empower individuals and teams to keep up with the speed of change. In order to achieve their Purpose, Vision and Mission, organisations need to constantly focus on building teams that are self - motivated, innovative and agile to sustain their high performance.

Why do we need to build Trust & Respect?

Trust and Respect is the foundation to build High Performance Teams. Trust and Respect provides a sense of safety and creates an environment where team members feel secured and significant. In such environment, Teams are aligned around common purpose, relying on each other and communicate openly and honestly. Trust and Respect increase morale, drives engagement, increases collaboration and help develop a culture of openness and inclusiveness. This contributes towards a meaningful and purposeful workplace climate.

Why Teamcoach International?

Teamcoach International has been designing and developing Team Development Programs for over 20 years. We design retreats that enhances performance and to create synergy within the team to maintain high team spirit. In order to achieve effective team learning, our approach is based on an adult-centric learner-centred cycle of learning. This involves and capitalises on the adult learner's desire for active participation and responsibility for their learning. We are able to design retreats at local and international venues.

What's Next?

We believe in customisation to satisfy Organisation's specific Team Development needs. Pre-retreat conversation is crucial to identify those specific needs and to design a retreat that will be both purposeful and contributes towards the Organisation's desired goals and objectives.
